

Resolution in Support of UTLA and OEA Contract Campaigns

WHEREAS United Teachers Los Angeles (UTLA) and the Oakland Education Association (OEA) are currently waging pro-active contract campaigns fighting not just for improved salary and benefits, but also for improved working and learning conditions, such as lower class sizes; more counselors, nurses, librarians, and other support personnel; less time on standardized testing; support for Special Education, Early Education and Adult Education Programs; and support for model community schools as an alternative to corporate-driven, privately-managed charter schools, and

WHEREAS, these same issues are important to the educators of Orange Unified Education Association and

WHEREAS UTLA and OEA are currently involved in impasse procedures and preparing to strike, if necessary, for a contract that invests in their students, their schools, and their educators, and

WHEREAS the success of UTLA and OEA – two of the largest and geographically central teacher union locals in the state – will be important for other contract negotiations in California, and

WHEREAS we are always stronger together as demonstrated by the national Red for Ed movement launched this year, and

WHEREAS the powerful cross-local unity exhibited during the red-state teacher strikes, resulting in increased salaries and funding for public education, brought educators together irrespective of state or national affiliation,

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that Orange Unified Education Association commits to supporting solidarity actions in support of the UTLA and OEA contract campaigns, including:

- Publicizing the progress of the UTLA and OEA contract campaigns in internal communications.
- Sharing the issues and importance of solidarity with UTLA and OEA.
- Supporting UTLA and OEA actions on social media.
